

LARGE CROWD AT TENNIS DANCE

A large and popular crowd attended the dance in the Farmers' Exchange Hall, Carbon, last Friday night, under the auspices of the Carbon Tennis club. Music was furnished by the Albertans, and was of a high standard, in fact it was probably the best orchestra that has visited Carbon for a long while. At midnight a very appetizing lunch was served by the ladies of the tennis club and during the supper interval the drawing for a large layer cake took place. Ticket No. 31 was the winner, and the holder is an employee of the Stopp mine.

The dance was a financial success as well as a social success, and we understand that over $20 were cleared on the evening's entertainment.

Noticed at the dance from other towns were persons from Acme, Swallow, Drumheller, and Three Hills.

BUFFALO MEAT TO BE SOLD TO CANADIAN HOUSEWIVES

Buffalo meat, steaks, tongue and tails, delicacies which figured on the plainman's menu in Western Canada many years ago, will again be available for Canadian housewives and diners in hotels and dining cars of the Canadian National Railways, as an announcement from Ottawa says that another 1,500 animals from Canada's great buffalo herd at Wainwright Park are to be slaughtered in the fall and early winter.

At the end of March of this year there were more than 6,000 animals in the Wainwright preserve. To this number has since been added the annual increase of about 20 per cent, with the result that the park is again overtaxed as to its grazing possibilities, and thinning out of the herd has been decided upon by the National Parks Branch, which controls the buffalo experiments. This is not the first time that it has been found necessary to reduce the Wainwright herd. On several occasions large numbers of animals have been slaughtered and their products have been marketed for consumption.

WORLD GRAIN SHOW DATES AT REGINA JULY 24-AUG. 5

July 24 to August 5 are the dates selected for the world's grain show and conference at Regina during the summer of 1933.

Executive and finance committee officials held a conference last week and they made the final date selection. Plans are continuing now with that as the time of gathering the world's best grain in competition.

With this in mind the Dominion government will be asked by the executive committee to notify the governments of all countries participating that the dates have been changed and requesting them that they allow their entries to stand until the postponed date.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT PROHIBITS GOLD EXPORT

Canada has taken official action to prohibit the export of gold, except under license. The order comes into effect immediately and will continue in operation until March 1, 1932, unless sooner amended or rescinded by competent authority.

The action taken enables this country to discharge all its obligations which are payable in gold outside of Canada, particularly in the United States. At the same time, Canada will maintain the statutory gold reserves in security for Dominion notes issued.

Bank of Montreal Final Crop Report

General—Surveying the crops of the Dominion, it can now be said that the wheat yield of the Prairie Provinces is approximately 157,000,000 bushels below a five year average, with corresponding reductions in the yields of coarse grains; that crops of the main staples in Ontario and Quebec generally have been heavier than average and of good quality; that in British Columbia crops generally have been fairly satisfactory, and that in the Maritime Provinces the yields of apples and hay have been above average, with oats a good average and potatoes below average. In respect to the Prairie Provinces, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates the wheat yield at 246,400,000 bushels from 23,178,000 acres, which compares with their estimate of 374,500,000 bushels from 23,960,000 acres last year and a five year average of 404,000,000 bushels.

Prairie Provinces—Grain production for 1931 will be the lowest since the dry years of 1918-19-20. The seed bed was unusually dry and rainfall came not only late but in less than normal amounts in the growing season in all but the northern areas of the three prairie provinces. Damage from rust and pests has been limited, but hail losses were serious in parts of Alberta. Generally speaking there are fair to good crops in the northern areas of each province. June rains in Alberta enabled crops to recover and poor areas are limited to southeastern and east central portions of the Province. Average wheat yields by provinces are estimated as follows—Alberta 16 bushels, Saskatchewan 7.3 bushels, Manitoba 10.4 bushels. Harvesting commenced in good time except in central and northern Alberta where crops were backward due to cool, wet weather. Threshing is completed in Manitoba, but 15 to 20 per cent of the crops remain unthreshed in Saskatchewan and 25 to 30 per cent in Alberta. Harvesting costs have been lower than for many years.

ALBERTA NEWS

Anton Martin lies in the Hanna hospital with a broken back as the result of a motor accident which occurred one mile east of Della early Monday morning. The injured man, according to a physician, has good chance of recovery.

A. J. McPhail, President of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, died in Regina last week, following an operation for appendicitis.

Loss in the prairie fire which swept about 2000 acres west of Airdrie last Thursday, will probably be about $600, according to reliable information received following the blaze.

While driving a wagon with a hay rack on it, loaded with a plow and a harrow, to which were hitched five horses, LeRoy Nicholas had the misfortune to have them run away. He was thrown out when the rack fell off and had his arm broken near the shoulder. One of the horses was killed and it is reported that another horse had his leg broken.—Gleichen Call.

F. G. Bray, who was recently nominated to contest a Calgary council seat under the Communist colors, has been chosen to seek election to the provincial legislature in the Red Deer by-election. Joseph Farby, at present free on bail pending appeal on a recently imposed sentence of ten months imprisonment for being a member of an unlawful assembly, has been nominated to contest a seat on the Calgary city council in place of Mr. Bray.

Mr. Brinson of Three Hills, had the misfortune to lose his truck by fire at his farm last Friday. He was at the wheel when a short circuit occurred and the car burst into flames. He just had time to get out of the truck before the two drums of oil on the vehicle blew up.—Three Hills Capital.

W. Black of Macleod was sentenced to three hours in prison last Thursday on a charge of receiving stolen goods. According to evidence submitted at the trial, Black was driving along the highway near Pincher Creek when he noticed some bottles of liquor lying beside the road. He picked them up and took them home, and hence the trial.

LIFTING CLOUDS

(Calgary Albertan)

As far as the Canadian wheat situation is concerned, the clouds appear to be lifting definitely. The world movement of wheat for the first eleven weeks of the present crop year has been in the neighborhood of 16,000,000 bushels a week, and in spite of financial unrest—the movement from Aug. 1 to October 17 is greatly in excess of the movement during the equivalent period last year.

Low prices appear to be fading into the past and the inevitable adjustment of production to demand is beginning to have its effect. The United States, Australia and Argentina have between them taken 13,000,000 acres out of production. The natural curtailment in acreage consequent upon a world wheat slump has been in steady progress but the beneficial effects are only now being felt. Canada and the aforementioned wheat producing countries have today a total acreage equivalent to that which obtained in 1921—but the demand for wheat is today infinitely greater and more insistent than then.

How far improvement in the wheat situation will affect world conditions as a whole is a debatable point—although that its influence will be definitely beneficial is evident—but as far as Western Canada is concerned such a situation suggests that the long heralded prosperity (at any rate relative prosperity) is around the corner.

The crime wave started with the passing of the old wood shed.

ARMISTICE HOLIDAY COMPULSORY

Armistice Day, November 11, will be observed throughout Canada as a public holiday, according to the Act passed at the last session of parliament regulating observance of the cessation of hostilities on November 11, 1918. The occasion will be celebrated in the same manner as Canadian Dominion Day, and other national holidays, according to the meaning of the Act, it was said last week at the office of the secretary of state.

Ice Hockey Gains Favor in Old Country

Though Canadians themselves have not yet reached the heights of enthusiasm over the 1931-32 hockey season, England is making active preparation for participation in the Canadian national game, judging by the number of ice hockey sticks shipped recently to the Old Country. Although Englishmen seldom enjoy natural ice in their country, a number of artificial ice rinks have been built during the past two years, and the game already has a fair following. Last year a team of graduates from the University of Manitoba played a series of exhibition games which did much to popularize the sport in Great Britain.

LISTEN, MEN!

A lot of you men who think you're the cat's whiskers, listen to the following. 'Twas written by a woman and she tells you, all the varieties of you, just how, what and who you are. Men are what women marry. They have two feet, two hands, and sometimes two wives; but never more than one collar or one idea at a time.

Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes: husbands, bachelors and widowers. An eligible bachelor is a mass of obstinacy entirely surrounded by suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties: prizes, surprises and consolation prizes.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope and charity—especially charity.

If you flatter a man, it frightens him to death, and if you don't, you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end, and if you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning.

If you believe him in everything you soon cease to interest him, and if you argue with him in everything you soon cease to charm him.

If you join in the gaities and approve his smoking he swears you are driving him to the devil, and if you don't approve of his smoking and urge him to give up his gaities, he vows you are driving him to the devil. If you are the clinging vine type, he doubts whether you have a brain, and if you are modern, advanced and an independent woman, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright mate, and if you are brilliant and intellectual, he longs for a playmate.

A man is but a worm of the dust—

JUDGE REVERSES COURT DECISION

In the case of Rex versus Hargraves, the decision of which was appealed by the defendant at the fall sitting of the District Court held at Drumheller on Friday last with His Honor Judge McHaffey presiding, the conviction by Magistrate L. O'Connor which carried with it a fine of $200 and costs for being in illegal possession of a still, was reversed by His Honor.

The Crown was represented by W. R. Sandercock, while F.C. Moyer appeared for the appellant. A request to the court for costs of the appeal by Mr. Moyer was disallowed, the judge remarking that although the evidence in the case was insufficient, the suspicion was too strong to assess the prosecution.—Drumheller Mail.

CANADIANS MUST HAVE COAL

Hard times or boom times, Canadian winters are invariably cold and a generous supply of fuel is as important to Jack Canuck as a well-stocked larder. Residents of Ontario are this year looking toward the Prairie Coal mines with greater zeal than usual if October shipments of coal are an indication. A total of 85 cars of coal were shipped to Ontario in the first three weeks of October, as compared to 15 cars for the entire month of October 1930. The majority of these shipments came from Drumheller, with several from Edson and Saunders.

THE REASON WHY DUCKS ARE WILD

There is little danger of the duck population of the Prairies being greatly depleted if the experience of one "nimrod" who recently spent a day on the marshes near St. Laurent, Manitoba, can be considered general. This sportsman fired 75 shells, costing $3.75. His fare on the C.N.R. was $3.60, and his hunter's license $2.00. His bag was three ducks, or $3.10 per duck. As there was no evidence of pellets in the birds, it is believed that they died of heart failure caused by the barrage.

BEES, BEAVER AND BEARS PROVE BEST BAROMETER

Bees, bears and beaver are the best barometers, and these animals predict an early winter and a cold one, in the opinion of a veteran railroader of the Canadian National Railways, who has made a close study of these weather prophets. Bees this year have built their nests high, wide and ample. This means that the bees are providing against deep snows and possible starvation through a long-drawn-out winter. The bears are rolling in fat and, therefore, prepared to go into early winter quarters for a long rest. Beavers already have their supply of food cut and stored against an early freeze up and their houses are built extra strong.

Set Your Own Standard

Most of us have seen the cartoons and read the stories appearing under the title "Keeping up with the Joneses." We have laughed over them, but at the same time exclaimed aloud, or murmured to ourselves, "What fools!"

Calmly facing, and closely diagnosing the situation which confronts thousands of us today as individuals, and all of us collectively as represented by our municipal, provincial and federal governments, must we not admit that no small part of our present financial problems are the result of conditions created by an attitude analogous to that portrayed in "Keeping up with the Joneses?"

The acuteness of our present day situation may be due to other causes quite beyond our control,—such as protracted drouth, and consequent crop failure, leading to unemployment in urban centres,—but would we not as a people, individually and collectively, have been able to withstand these shocks if, when times were prosperous and business active, we had not lived up to, and in many cases far beyond, our current income in a desperate race in which each and all were striving to keep up with somebody else?

Looking back,—and it is in times like these that people are in the mood to "look back," take stock, and give heed to things that at other times when everything is forging full speed ahead they will not stop and consider,—is it not possible to see that we indulged in expenditures which our actual position did not warrant but into which we plunged because of a false vanity that we must keep up with somebody else?

The old motor car although still serviceable was not good enough because somebody else had bought a new, more up-to-date, faster car; the simple, refreshing, health-giving holiday at a near-by lake we had enjoyed for years had to give place to an expensive trip to the Coast, or a winter in California, or Florida, or some Eastern city because somebody else had followed such a course; or because somebody else sent their son or daughter to university, we must do likewise, even though our boy and girl might not have similar tastes or inclinations or aptitude for the higher degrees of learning.

And these traits of character in the individual naturally have found expression in the policies of the governments we have created. Because older established, more populous and wealthier provinces, states and countries have, through the expenditure of millions of dollars, created great systems of permanent, all-weather roads, why we must do the same although still young, weak and not yet wealthy as a community. Not only roads, but our schools, our public buildings, all our public services had to be the equal of those to be found anywhere else. As individuals, as electors, we demanded these things, and our governments were forced to comply with our demands or give way for those who would. We were determined to keep up with the Joneses of the whole world.

As a result the factories of the world were busy turning out not necessities alone but enormous quantities of luxuries at a fabulous cost. Stocks and bonds of these inflated industries mounted in value to dizzy heights. Everybody bought them with a view to amassing more money in order that they might buy still more luxury. Sooner or later a collapse had to come, and the Joneses of the world and their vast army of imitators are now in difficulty.

There is a lesson all may well take to heart at this time. It is this: Rightly or wrongly,—and wrongly we believe, and certainly wrong in the vast differences which do exist,—wealth is unevenly divided, income and earning power vary greatly from one person to another, and at different periods of a person's life. One man's standard of living and expenditure cannot safely be accepted as sound and proper by another man. While our present distribution of wealth continues, one man's loose change will be another man's extravagant folly.

Like everything else in this changing world, the social order is changing. Furthermore, it is the right and privilege of every man and woman to work for a change along lines he or she considers will be better, more just; with this limitation, however, that they must consider and respect the rights of others just as they expect their rights to be respected. Self-interest alone must not be our guide, because, in the final analysis, insistence of self-interest alone means self-destruction. And this is true of nations just as truly as it is of individuals.

George Washington once said: "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations—instill it deep." Far better to follow this sage advice than to indulge in the heart-burning dissatisfaction of continually trying to keep up with the Joneses.

Proud Of Record

In the province of Vermland, Sweden, 164 farmers have received diplomas testifying to the long hereditary tenure of their lands. The record seems to be held by a family at Eda, which has farmed its lands since 1470, but another family, at Norda Emterud, has held a farm since 1480. The Swedish farmers take great pride in their family records and the new diplomas are highly prized.

Could Not Check the Summer Complaint A Few Doses Did It

Mrs. B. Coulter, 918-11th Ave. E., Calgary, Alta., writes:—"Last summer my youngest son was very bad with summer complaint, and everything he ate he would vomit, and he got so thin I became very much worried. I could not get the discharges checked, so I went to the druggist and he gave me a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and told me it would stop the trouble if anything would. After I had given the boy the first few doses I noticed the discharges were being checked, and it was not long before he was well again."

Hard Times In Labrador

Twelve Thousand Families Are Reported To Be Facing Starvation

Unless prompt assistance is forthcoming some 12,000 families face starvation this winter in the Button Bay district of Labrador, according to a report presented the Quebec Government by Rev. A. S. Leomoyan, provincial school inspector and Anglican missionary of the stricken district. This condition was brought about by the failure of the cod fishing industry this year.

The report was considered by a cabinet meeting, at the conclusion of which Premier L. A. Taschereau said the Quebec Government will do something as soon as possible to alleviate the situation.

"We would naturally like the Dominion authorities to go 50-50 with us in providing this relief," he added.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing. I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. Then I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted."

"I was heartsick until the happy thought struck me to dye them. I just dyed them a deeper green, and as I used Diamond Dyes they look gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colors—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do."

Making Of Wool Leather Is Closely Guarded Secret

The newest leather isn't leather at all. It is nothing more or less than wool. Wool-leather has been developed at the headquarters of the British Wool Industries Research Association in Leeds, England, and the process is a closely guarded secret. It looks like leather, wears like leather, is waterproof, and can be produced remarkably cheaply. The new wool-leather is excellent for boot uppers, furniture, motor coats, and for the upholstery of cars, buses, and railway vehicles. Not the least of its advantages is that it is easily produced in any desired shade or colour.

Persian Balm imparts a rare charm and distinction to the woman who uses it. Fragrant as a flower, deliciously cool to the skin, it always results in complexions delightfully young and lovely. Indispensable to every dainty woman. As a powder base for oily-textured skins or as a beautifying lotion, it is unrivalled. Tones and stimulates the skin. Recommended also to soften and make the hands flawlessly white.

Television May Enable Purchaser To Actually See the Flowers Selected

The sending of "flowers by telegraph" has for some years been a great convenience to many people, although they have been obliged largely to leave the selection of the bouquet or plant to the florist. But, according to information given out at the recent convention of the Florists Telegraph Delivery Association, television will soon enable the customer actually to see his selection of blooms and supervise their arrangement before delivery is made. Perhaps the time may come when a customer can get a whiff of their fragrance?—Christian Science Monitor.

Preparations Being Made To Entertain Delegates To Rome Convention

Delegates to the Fifth World's Poultry Congress being held in Rome, Italy, in 1933, are assured an exceptional opportunity for visiting. Not only will they "see Rome" during Congress week but they will be guests of the Government of Italy for an eight-day tour of the country, during which visits will be made to such interesting and historic spots as Leghorn, Florence, Pisa, Perouse, Ancona, Bologna, Rovigo, Milan, Como, and Venice. Canadian delegates will return by way of Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and France en route to Great Britain. Going routes being considered include via Paris and the South of France, via Gibraltar and Old Spain, via the Riviera, and by steamer direct to Naples with a day at Palermo. F. C. Elford, Dominion Poultry Husbandman, is again giving an active lead to Canadian participation and will be glad to hear from anyone interested in attending the Rome Congress.

Achieved Great Success

Lord Byng Restored Public Confidence In Scotland Yard

Canadians will read with warm satisfaction the tribute paid to Lord Byng by the London Times on his relinquishing the office of Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police Force. The great popularity which his lordship gained with the soldiers under his command on the battlefields of Europe was shared by the citizens of this country when he became Governor-General of the Dominion. He was liked for his personal qualities as much as he was admired for his ability and strength of character. When he was appointed to Scotland Yard there were some who wondered whether military qualifications were the right credentials for a police chief. Unfortunately Lord Byng has suffered much from ill-health during his tenure of office, but he has succeeded in achieving a great success in the position. Certain happenings had marred the wonderful record of Britain's Metropolitan Police Department, and it was to no sinecure that the great commander was called. He undertook the task with his usual thoroughness, however, with the result, according to the Times, that "Scotland Yard has gained nothing less than complete restoration of public confidence in the police force and the police force has regained confidence in itself. The good which Lord Byng has done will live after him." May he be spared to long enjoy his well-earned retirement! He has shown himself in peace and war a true commander and a great administrator.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Canada a Good Country

Times may be "hard" in Canada in some lines, but generally speaking, this country can hold its head up with any of them when it comes to business integrity and solidity. Naturally, we cannot hope to be rid of those who are always tripping over their lower lip, but these, fortunately, are in the minority. But how that minority can sometimes broadcast.

"FATIGUE?"

I just postpone it!"

"No, I don't have 'nerves.' You can't have them, and hold this sort of position. My head used to throb around three o'clock, and certain days, of course, were worse than others."

"Then I learned to rely on Aspirin."

The sure cure for any headache is rest. But sometimes we must postpone it. That's when Aspirin saves the day. Two tablets, and the nagging pain is gone until you are home. And once you are comfortable the pain seldom returns!

Keep Aspirin handy. Don't put it away, or put off taking it. Fighting a headache to finish the day may be heroic, but it is also a little foolish. So is sacrificing a night's sleep because you've an annoying cold, or irritated throat, or grumbling tooth, neuralgia, neuritis. These tablets always relieve. They don't depress the heart, and may be taken freely. That is medical opinion. It is a fact established by the last twenty years of medical practice.

The only caution to be observed is when you are buying Aspirin. Don't take a substitute because it will not act the same. Aspirin is made in Canada.

Made in Canada

Value To Canadian Agriculture Of The Chemical Work Carried On By Our Experimental Farms

For a period of more than forty years the division of Chemistry of the Dominion Experimental Farm system has been in close contact with the Canadian farmer. This has been brought about by the issue of reports and bulletins, by lectures and addresses, personal interviews and to a still greater degree by a voluminous and ever-increasing correspondence.

The information so disseminated is largely the result of investigation and research which are based upon the application of the science of chemistry to practical agriculture, and these constitute the main work of the division.

A large number of soil samples are received for examination from farmers scattered throughout the Dominion. In the report of analysis to the sender, advice is given with respect to manures, soil amendments and suitable fertilizers, etc., in this way alone hundreds of farmers every year are directly benefiting from this service of the division. From the results of carefully planned investigations the influence of continuous grain-growing has been determined and economic methods of maintaining the fertility of western prairie soils have been indicated. The extensive use of alfalfa and clover in present-day crop rotations is largely due to the early work of the division in which the manurial value of these legumes was demonstrated.

Recent years have witnessed an increasing use of fertilizers, especially in eastern Canada. Extremely valuable information with respect to the economic employment of fertilizers and liming materials has resulted from the investigational work carried on by the division on the several branch farms and stations.

Another important phase of the work has been the establishing of standards for the more important feeding stuffs. Some years ago there was widespread dissatisfaction over the variable quality of milling by-products. Many were loaded with screenings with consequent poorer feeding value; injurious weed seeds were frequently present, and middlings with a low fibre content, so necessary in pig-feeding, were difficult to obtain. Standards for bran, shorts, middlings and feed flour were set, regulations regarding adulterations by screenings passed and as a result there is on the market today standardized clean, high-grade, wheat by-products. Similar work was done for packing house by-products, resulting in the vending of properly labelled material with guaranteed contents of protein, fat and bone-phosphate.

In the chemistry of wheat it has been shown that seasonal conditions — precipitation, temperature, etc. — have a greater influence on the quantity and quality of the gluten than does soil fertility. The valuation of newly introduced varieties has been another phase of the work. For instance, some years ago an effort was made by interested parties to distribute in the West a variety of wheat to replace Marquis and other standard varieties. Yields, appearance and even percentage of protein of this variety were satisfactory. Gluten determinations, however, showed this wheat to possess a soft, sticky, non-resilient gluten, markedly inferior to that of such older varieties as Fife and Marquis. In consequence the distribution of this variety was discouraged.

Grain mixtures grown to produce high protein yields have been under investigation. As a result certain mixtures have been found which almost double the amount of protein per unit area formerly obtained.

The critical examination of a recently introduced scheme of pasturage calls for special comment. This system involving close grazing accompanied by judicious fertilizer treatment, has produced a herbage rich in protein during the entire growing season and has resulted, in some districts, in saving the purchase price of commercial feeds, during the summer.

Free analysis of well water has contributed towards the maintenance of hygienic conditions through the farming districts. Thousands of samples of well water have been analyzed, pollution, alkalinity, etc., detected and remedies suggested.

At one time the export trade in pork to Great Britain was seriously affected by extreme softness of the product. Investigation of this problem proved that the chief factors leading to softness in pork were the stage of maturity of the animals and the character of the feed—skim-milk in the ration possessing a correcting influence in the prevention of this undesirable quality.

The foregoing paragraphs present but a small proportion of the work of the division. These examples, however, may serve to emphasize the value to Canadian agriculture of the chemical work of the Dominion Experimental Farms.

Tarnish on tin cooking vessels makes them more efficient by holding, rather than reflecting, heat.

The citrus growers of California have a $25,000 insect laboratory.

Excellent Wheat Quality

This Year's Western Wheat Crop Of High Protein Content

Additional tests of the milling and baking qualities of the 1931 crop have confirmed early conclusions that this year's crop is equal, if not superior, to that of any year examined. The tests were conducted by Dr. F. J. Birchard, chemist in charge of the research laboratory of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

The weights per bushel of the first four grades are all higher than last year. The average weight for No. 1 hard is 65½ pounds; for No. 1 northern, 65; No. 2 northern, 64½; No. 3 northern, 62½. With the increase in weight there is a corresponding increase in the percentage of flour in each grade. The average protein content is placed at 14.3 per cent. for the first four grades in Dr. Birchard's report.

"The baking quality of the first four grades is fully equal, if not superior to last year," says the report. "This is indicated by the very large volume and excellent texture of the loaves both when baked by themselves and when blended with typical soft wheats."

Attention is called to the relatively small percentage of wheat grading three northern or lower. Of the wheat passing through Winnipeg, 38.8 per cent. graded one northern, 34.1 per cent. two northern, 21.6 per cent. one hard, and only 4.5 per cent. three northern, and one percent. in other grades.

While the samples tested include wheat from the three prairie provinces, comparatively little from the northern sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta has been inspected. Heavy rains recently in those areas may affect the wheat.

Many Diverse Applications

Divorce applications to the number of some 242 have been filed at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, so far this year it was learned. Of this number 188 were applied for by wives and 109 by husbands. September was the high month for applications, 40 being recorded in that month.

Industry Must Take Leading Part In The Battle Against Depression, Says Dr. Manion

Calling upon industrial and business leaders together with men and women in every walk of life to pool their intellects in evolving a permanent cure for economic depressions, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals addressed at Windsor, the convention of the Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario. Civilization was being challenged; it was on trial and "it is the duty of all good Canadians to give serious thought to the whole matter to avoid our civilization going the way of civilizations in the past."

Communism was not the cure, Dr. Manion hastened to add. Unemployment, hunger and hardship formed fertile ground for the seeds of Bolshevism. "Our whole system of production and distribution is out of gear. That is why paid agents of Moscow are in our midst today, feeding upon discontent like evil birds of prey. These agents must be suppressed for, while our civilization has its faults, we can gradually correct those conditions without crippling or destroying our whole political and economic structure."

Notwithstanding its nature, any plan or policy to combat economic conditions must be contributory, continued Dr. Manion. The employee, the employer and the state must contribute. Without elaborating on it, the federal minister said one per cent. of all the wages and salaries paid annually in Canada, would amount to $25,000,000. "What good Canadian," he added, "would object to contributing one dollar of every hundred dollars he earns to protect himself and his fellow Canadian from the tragedy of unemployment? In some such manner, modified according to circumstances, an immense fund could be built up in the full years to protect us in the lean years."

Industry must take a leading part in the battle against depression, continued Dr. Manion. The Dominion, provincial and municipal governments were able to do only so much—after that point other agencies must enter the lists. For one thing, industry must change its tempo of production. "With industry the system in the past has been to go full blast ahead in prosperous years or seasons, utilizing to the full its large factories, marvellous machines and the human element, but when depression arrives, the industries slow down and the workers have to be cared for by the state until the next period of prosperity arrives." The Dominion this year was spending about $50,000,000 in caring for the unemployed and this could not continue indefinitely.

"If our political and economic system is to endure," said Dr. Manion, "the ablest minds in industry, commerce and public life must try to evolve the alternating peaks of prosperity and depths of depression, and industry must give its assistance to the fullest. We must, in other words, stop inventing industrial machines which take employment from the hands of the workers and try to develop instead a social machine which will keep our people reasonably employed and so give us a contented and happy people. This is the best antidote to the poison of communism."

Dr. Manion closed his speech on a note of optimism. This country possessed immense natural resources, its banking system was strong and sound, the people were law-abiding, excellent ocean ports dotted the shorelines, unbounded commercial opportunities existed, particularly in the Orient and along the lines of preferential Empire trade. While this was not the time to "rock the boat" by capacious political criticism, likewise it was not the time to pay undue heed to "economic pessimists." There could be no doubt about Canada's future. "Its greatness is still to come."

LEADERS OF CANADIAN BAR IN SESSION

From east and west Canada's leading barristers met at the 16th annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association held during September at the Manoir Richelieu, Murray Bay, Quebec. Officially opened by His Excellency the Governor-General, the sessions were also attended by distinguished leaders of the bar from England, France and the United States. Photographs show: top, view of the Manoir Terrace, during an informal gathering between business sessions; inset, Louis S. St. Laurent, K.C., Quebec, re-elected president of the Association, and E. Lambs From E.P. Ranch Show Top Grade Form

Royal Ranch Has Done Much To Raise Standard Of Sheep Raising In Alberta

The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has just received the formal report on the grading of 22 ram lambs under the Federal Ram Grading Policy. Of the lot 21 graded XXX or top grade. S. G. Freeborn, District Live Stock Promoter, who did the grading, states the lot were the best the E.P. Ranch has ever brought out. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales has been giving special attention for a number of years to the improvement of his ranch flock, importing high grade sires from British flocks, and going farther afield to get rams with a view to improving fleece as well as body type. Sales of graded ram lambs and other rams from the flock have done much to raise the standard for the breed in Alberta, and also to increase the popularity and worth of sheep raising as an industry, particularly in the West.

Has Ostrich Taste

When a three-year-old steer was slaughtered at Smithfield, London, England, recently, among the articles found in its stomach were seven pounds of rusty nails and screws, a silver brooch, part of a rubber Wellington boot, part of a bowler hat, a shoe buckle and several pieces of copper wire.

"What! You want leave for your silver wedding? I will not grant it, or you will want leave every twenty-five years." — Fliegende Blaetter, Munich.

"Does that worry you?"

"Yes. Magistrates will never believe that I have inherited my misfortunes."—Der Brummer, Berlin.

LOST 20 LBS. FAT Without Altering Diet

To reduce weight without any attention to diet is rather more than anyone should expect. That the Kruschen method should have succeeded in this case, is a great tribute to its effectiveness.

"When I started taking Kruschen for reducing weight, I weighed 170 lbs. That was seven months ago. I decided I was too heavy, and now, thanks to the half teaspoonful of Kruschen every morning, I tip the scale at 150 lbs. I have been that weight for nearly four months. I may say I feel much better. I did not diet myself in any way whatever."—E. C.

Kruschen Salts do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do. But taken regularly over a period of time—with a modified diet and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast will take away unhealthy flesh and restore your figure to its normal weight. Yet at the same time—build up health with a great increase in vigor and energy for you!

Separate Grade For Garnet Wheat Asked

May Be Excluded From Contract Grades Of Northern Classes

Garnet wheat will be excluded from the contract grades of the northern classes after July 31, 1932, if a resolution passed unanimously by the Western Grain Standards Board is approved and the Canadian Grain Act duly amended at the next session of parliament.

The resolution urged that it be graded as a separate variety of wheat in grades to be known as number one, two and three Garnet, with anything which fails to meet the requirements of these grades being included in the lower grades of the red spring wheat.

Acid Stomach

Completely Relieved by Famous Vegetable Pills

Mr. Frank C., of Blackburn, writes: "I have suffered long from acid stomach and constipation, but since being advised to try your wonderful Carter's Little Liver Pills I can eat anything." Dr. Carter's Little Liver Pills are no ordinary laxative. They are ALL VEGETABLE and have a definite, valuable tonic action upon the liver. They end Constipation, Indigestion, Bilioussness, Headaches, Poor Complexion. All druggists. 25c & 75c red pkgs.

Worry and Fear

Factors That Help To Shorten the Span Of Life

The way that hate, fear, worry and jealousy have helped to choke off at 58 years man's hitherto rapidly increasing span of life, was described to the American College of Surgeons in New York.

The bank president worrying over business, the criminal suddenly stricken with fear and the mother watching her sick child all were pictured as doing the same injury to their health.

This increase to 58 as the average time every adult may expect to live was discussed by two internationally known physicians, Dr. George W. Crile of the Cleveland Clinic, and Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Crile told the medical story of ravages of emotions of modern civilization. Dr. Mayo sketched remedies for ill health, which included newspapers as "the greatest educating, thought-moulding enterprise in the world."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON NOVEMBER 1

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

Golden Text: "Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the Spirit."—Ephesians 5.18.

Lesson: Galatians 5.13-26; Romans 13.1-14.

Devotional Reading: Romans 14.13-21.

Explanations and Comments

"Brothers," wrote Paul to the Galatians, "you are free from the Law, but Christian liberty does not mean that you can do as you please."

"A Christian man is the most free lord of all, and subject to none; a Christian man is the most dutiful servant of all, and subject to all."—Martin Luther.

Liberty and license are not synonymous. Do not use your freedom as a license for indulging your lower impulses, but live in accordance with the law of love. "Flesh" is used here for "that element of man's nature which is opposed to goodness and makes for evil. It signifies the entire potency of sin." "Through loving services for others," continued Paul, "you fulfill the whole divine law, which is, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." Paul here quotes Leviticus 19.18.

Then remembering that the Galatians were prone to quarrel, Paul adds, "But if ye bite and devour one another—act toward one another like dogs or wild beasts—beware lest you destroy one another." "Mutual back-biting and hatred can only end in the destruction of one another's spiritual life."

The Power Of the Spirit, verses 16-18.—Walk by the Spirit, submit to the guidance of the Holy Spirit in all your acts, and then you will not fulfil the desire of your evil nature. For the evil nature and the indwelling Holy Spirit are antagonistic. "Throughout this passage the 'Spirit' is evidently the Divine Spirit, for the human spirit in itself and unaided does not stand in direct antagonism to the flesh."—Lightfoot.

"If you are led by the Spirit," Paul continues, "you are not under the law, for you will not disobey it." "Law exists for the purpose of restraint, but in the works of the Spirit there is nothing to restrain."—Lightfoot.

The Works Of the Flesh, verses 19-21.—The works of the flesh are manifest—plainly seen—Paul declares, and then he gives a repelling list of some fifteen vices which were common among the Galatians. "It may be pointed to as a proof of depravity that vocabularies have more words descriptive of forms of sin than words descriptive of forms of holiness. Under the fruit of the Spirit Paul gives a list of nine, but under the works of the flesh his list extends to fifteen, properly sixteen, and the word translated 'which' implies that he did not profess to give an exhaustive list—he could easily have added other instances."—R. Finlayson.

The Fruit Of the Spirit, verses 22-24.—"When the baleful effects of the self-life is corrected, the fruits of the Spirit appear naturally and easily. Note the distinction between work, in which there is effort, and fruit, which swells so imperceptibly and silently on the branch, pressed out from within!"—F. B. Meyer.

He who is governed by the inner spirit is not content merely to refrain from breaking the law; he exercises positive virtues such as Paul now enumerates: love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control. Each of these is the result of the first which is love. Against such there is no law. "Paul is content to remark—not without a touch of irony in his tone—that these things do not seem to call for the interference of legislation!"—A. W. Robinson.

The Final Counsel, verses 25, 26.—"If we live by the Spirit, by the Spirit let us also walk." Walking by the Spirit is the effect of living by the Spirit. If the Divine Spirit has control of our spirit, then we are living loftily, doing daily what we believe Christ would have us do.

The most vicious and despicable of human vices is insisting upon minding other people's business.

Dean Inge says true fasting is eating something you don't like. Many children feel that way about spinach.

Increased Postal Revenues

Substantial Recovery Is Noted By Postmaster General

Substantial recovery in postal revenues, with every prospect of last year's deficit being overtaken, is indicated in reports of postal business presented to Hon. Arthur Sauve, postmaster-general. Since assuming that portfolio, Mr. Sauve has applied himself industriously to the task of converting a heavy deficit into a surplus and recently expressed satisfaction with the result, which promises well for the future.

One feature of the increased postal business is the marked advance in third-class mail matter. "If this conveys anything at all," declared one official, "it suggests that business houses and industrial concerns have greatly widened their advertising campaigns. Third-class mail embraces printed matter—circulars and such like. The doubling of this business in September indicates a pronounced confidence on the part of merchandising houses in the gradual betterment of conditions generally."

Lending support to this is the 15 per cent. increase in registered mail during September. Second-class mail matter has retained its position, while a slight drop in letter mail is more than offset by increases in other directions.

For the first three months of the fiscal year the department was $900,000 in "the red" from last year, but the months of July and August overtook $800,000 of that, and from now on officials look for a steady upswing.

Young Jap Is Independent

Eleven-Year-Old Boy On Long Trip Shows His Mettle

Pride runs high in the Japanese and it gets its start at an early age. Young Mr. Haruo Inouye, 11-year-old Japanese boy, who travelled alone from Toronto to Vancouver via Canadian National Railways, possesses a fiery independence that rose in protest when a representative of the Traveller's Aid remarked that Haruo looked no more than eight years old.

"You're goofy," was the young Oriental's cryptic reply. Master Inouye decided to take a walk around Winnipeg before the Continental Limited steamed on west, and, when the passenger agent, whose charge he was, left momentarily, he nodded in the direction of the uniformed official and said: "Tell the president not to worry. I'll be back."

Haruo's father is dead and now his guardian, with whom he lived in Toronto, has also passed beyond, so the independent little lad was on his way to join an elder brother in Vancouver. He accepted words of sympathy with a shake of his head, a flashing smile and terse, "Guess I'm jinxed, but I'll get along."

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water neutralizes instantly many times that much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go, get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 50c a bottle—any drug store. (Made in Canada.)

Growth Of Swedish Town

Modern City Was Arctic Wilderness Twenty Years Ago

A little more than twenty years ago the thriving town of Kiruna, Sweden, was nothing more than Arctic wilderness, the abode of wandering Lapps and herds of reindeer. Today it is a bustling community of 11,000 inhabitants which serves as the commercial center of a vast iron industry with a history as romantic as the most adventurous pioneering exploits of North America. Swedish engineering skill has placed in the center of polar wastes a small modern city with as many up-to-date mechanical comforts as the most fastidious American city dweller could wish for. In the industrial world, Kiruna has become known for its almost unlimited iron ore resources. Figures given by officials of the mining syndicate which controls the properties show that more than 9,000,000 tons of iron ore were produced during 1930. A steady annual gain has been recorded since the mines were first worked on a large scale, about 1911.

LEAGUE FALTERS IN EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH PEACE

Geneva, Switzerland.—Shaken by doubt of United States support and confronted by Japan's stoutly-maintained refusal to withdraw her Manchurian troops until her terms have been met, the council of the League of Nations faltered in its efforts to establish peace between China and Japan. Pessimism was so complete that a proposal to adjourn the council's special session for three weeks, without concrete action to arrest the Manchurian conflict, was debated. Observers feared that the crisis, now five weeks old, would continue unchecked.

Fate of the February disarmament conference and the life of the league itself were declared to be hanging in the balance because of the turn of events in Manchuria. Too, fear was expressed that within China itself there would be political turmoil as a result of the Geneva deadlock. Council members maintained silence concerning apprehensions about the attitude of the United States, but it was admitted that the council sized the situation up thus:

After giving the league cordial assurances of Washington's support in its efforts at pacification, and after accepting the invitation to sit with the council under the terms of the Briand-Kellogg pact, the United States Government now has evidenced unwillingness to support the move to insist on complete withdrawal of Japanese troops by a definite date, nor has the United States supported the proposal for a commission of neutral observers on the spot.

Deep regret was expressed over reports from Washington that United States Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has assured Japanese Ambassador Katsuri Debutchi the United States has no intention of participating in any program of economic pressure.

Champion Cattle On E.P. Ranch Burned

Ranch Hands Battled Disastrous Fire For Twelve Hours

Calgary, Alberta.—Damage totaling $18,000 was done by fire which razed two barns on the Prince of Wales E.P. Ranch near High River, Alberta. The fire claimed the $1,000 champion cow "Balcairn Lavatera"; the $600 champion heifer, "Princeton Lily"; the $600 yearling heifer, "Princeton Jessie" and seven young bulls.

Prof. W. L. Carlyle, manager of the ranch, believed that spontaneous combustion caused the outbreak. All the ranch hands battled the flames but the high wind blocked their efforts and the fire spread rapidly. For 12 hours the fire was fought before it was prevented from spreading to other buildings of the ranch. Professor Carlyle said the champion cow heifers were being prepared for the Royal Winter Show at Toronto. He said all entries would be withdrawn now because of the conflagration.

Slump Seen As Benefit

Henry Ford Says Depression Is a Wholesome Thing In General

New York, N.Y.—Henry Ford thinks the economic slump "has done less harm to the people of our country than a continuance of our previous false prosperity would have done."

In an interview here, Mr. Ford says "The depression is a wholesome thing, in general." The condition will be broken, when people cease to believe that something can be obtained for nothing and when people get back their self-dependence, that is, when they cease to lean on the initiative of a few either to provide work or charity."

Federal Authority Must Be Secured

Before Provinces Initiate New Undertakings As Relief Measure

Ottawa, Ont.—"All that has taken place is that various provinces and municipalities have been notified to refrain from initiating new undertakings without federal authority," Senator Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, declared here, commenting on western despatches to the effect that the provinces had been requested to cut their relief measures.

"We found that new undertakings were being embarked upon for which federal authority had not been secured," the Minister said. "This had to stop. We notified the provinces that such works as were already commenced could be proceeded with; but that new enterprises must have Dominion authorization. We intend to insist upon that being respected. That is all."

Unemployed Women

No Census Will Be Taken Says Government

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion Government will not undertake registration of unemployed women. This is made plain in a letter Senator Gideon Robertson has sent to the National Council of Women. The registration of unemployed men has proved a very considerable task. He is hopeful of obtaining much desired information from the census in this regard.

Senator Robertson's letter says "the results of the efforts to register unemployed men have been so obviously misused by duplications and men not unemployed registering in anticipation of their becoming out of work, that it seems to preclude the possibility of successful registration of unemployed women."

Death Of A. J. McPhail

President Of Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Passes Suddenly In Regina

Regina, Sask.—A. J. McPhail, president of Saskatchewan Wheat Pool since its inception, and president of Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited, that is, the central selling agency, died suddenly October 21 in Regina General Hospital. He was 47 years old.

Mr. McPhail underwent an operation on September 28 for appendicitis, and since that time had been making satisfactory progress. He was to have been released from hospital the day he died.

His attending physician, Dr. Hugh McLean, stated that embolism, or the release of a clot in the blood stream, caused his sudden death.

"The Beggar's Opera"

English Light Opera Company Now On Canadian Tour

The English Light Opera Company which has come from London, England for a Trans-Canada tour has received high praise from the critics of Toronto and other Eastern Canadian cities they have appeared in. Special stress is laid on the vocal ability of the company which is headed by Leyland White, one of England's most popular grand opera and concert baritones, who will be seen as McHeath in "The Beggar's Opera," when the company appears at the Darke Building for Music at Regina on November 2, 3, and 4. Miss Kathleen Destournel, soprano, will be the "Polly Peachum." This charming and gifted singer was a protegee of Dame Melba, and appeared with the Australian diva at a Command Performance at Covent Garden shortly before the death of Melba. Another member of the company is Miss Dorothy George, well-known London contralto, who has sung the principal contralto roles in Gilbert & Sullivan operas. "The Beggar's Opera," by John Gay, is in full keeping with his name, for it is riotously merry. For an evening of jollity and tuneful music no opera since this first of all English comic operas can compare. Mr. Henry Jaxon, one of the most distinguished conductors of all England, will conduct the performances. Those who attended the Wembley Exhibition will recall that it was Mr. Jaxon who directed the music for the Pageant of Empire, and was in charge of the music for His Majesty's Government. Mr. Jaxon is a personal friend of Sir Edward German, composer of "Merrie England," the other opera being given by the English Opera Company on its tour, and has assisted that eminent composer in re-orchestrating and arranging a number of his works.

SEES CANCELLATION

The announcement in London of Sir Norman Angell (above), well known British economist, that he believed all war debts will be cancelled, has attracted international attention. Sir Norman stated he doubts that payments on the debts, suspended by the Hoover moratorium last June, will ever be resumed.

Relief For West

$50,000 Worth Of Food And Clothing Shipped From Eastern Canada

Toronto, Ont.—Since the national emergency relief committee of the United Church of Canada was formed last August, 38 carloads of clothing, fruit and vegetables, mostly from Ontario have been shipped to drought-stricken areas of the Canadian west. Definite promise of 27 more carloads from this province has already been secured, according to officials of the committee.

Figures compiled show that a total of $50,000 worth of food and clothing has been shipped to the prairies from Eastern Canada and British Columbia under the direction of the relief committee. The largest total is that of Huron County, Ontario, which is now loading its eighth car.

Not Yet Learned Lesson

Many Disasters Have Apparently Failed To Impress Nations

Toronto, Ont.—Equality of sacrifice among the nations was stressed as the salvation of the world, by Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner in Canada. Officiating at the annual prize giving at St. Andrew's College, Sir William addressed the students. Looking back over a generation, "which in the last 20 years has seen so many disasters come upon it, culminating in the severest and most widespread depression which the world has known," Sir William expressed a fear that even now the nations of the world had not yet learned their lesson.

Repays U.S. Credit

Bank Of England Retires Large Portion Of Big Loan

New York, N.Y.—The New York Herald-Tribune says the Bank of England has repaid most of the $125,000,000 90-day credit it obtained from the United States federal reserve system on August 1.

It was revealed, says the newspaper, in a major front page story, that the bank had been able to retire almost $100,000,000 of its credit in this market.

The Herald-Tribune says further in part:

News of the retirement of four-fifths of the August credit, which matures on October 31, evoked considerable surprise and gratification here. It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that the federal reserve advance, while nominally due last week, was actually "frozen" for some time to come.

Thus, by repayment of the major portion of its credit for the federal reserve, the Bank of England has lowered substantially its foreign liabilities, thereby removing some of the obstacles which might be considered as standing in the way of an early stabilization of sterling exchange, and simultaneously the liquidity of the federal reserve system has been increased a corresponding amount.

Premiers Will Meet Again In November

To Consolidate Views On Problems Of Western Provinces

Calgary, Alberta.—Taking back to their respective provinces information which will be studied in preparation for another conference in November, premiers and cabinet members of the prairie provinces closed their conference here and left for their homes.

The meeting in November is being called to consolidate views of the prairie provinces and British Columbia in an effort to have legislatures of each province take uniform action on problems debated. British Columbia's representatives, absent from the last meeting, will take part in the November session.

Topics on which information was exchanged during the two-day gathering included unemployment relief, curtailment of provincial expenditures and finances generally, debtor-creditor grievances, wheat pool guarantees and gasoline prices. On the question of gasoline prices alone was any definite action taken, and this was a step towards an investigation under the Combines act.

Floods In India

Calcutta, India.—At least 150 persons were drowned and 2,000 made homeless by floods which reached a depth of 30 feet in the vizianagram area of India. About 90 per cent. of the cattle in the area were drowned and considerable damage done to the jute crop.

SAYS IN RAILWAY EXPANSION MORE CAUTION NEEDED

Winnipeg, Man.—Re-adjustment of the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways "would not alter the economic position of the country one iota," Dr. W. W. Swanson, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, told the Winnipeg young men's board of trade in an address in which he blamed the people of Canada for any extravagance in the building up of the government-owned railroad.

A private corporation, in debt as the C.N.R. is, might well consider some arrangement with its bondholders which might permit the scaling down of its indebtedness, Dr. Swanson said, but, he added: "It is not conceivable that the Dominion of Canada will assemble the bondholders in this case and offer a plan of reconstruction of capital which will involve their agreeing to a scaling down of the face value of their investments."

Capital readjustment of the C.N.R. "would be a trick in accounting," declared Dr. Swanson. "It would be wholly useless, except as gesture." The Saskatchewan economist, who accompanied Premier R. B. Bennett to the last imperial conference in an expert capacity, thought the present condition of the C.N.R. has some value to Canadians "as a warning."

"It indicates in plain terms," he said, "the necessity for exercise of more caution in the future than has been shown in the past. It indicates the need to weigh projects of national expansion more carefully than we have sometimes done; the wisdom of making haste slowly, even in a country as rich and as capable of development as is Canada."

Dr. Swanson defended the railway's management. "Operating accounts of the system indicate they proceeded consistently along the lines of what they evidently, without protest from the public, conceived to be their mandate—to make the railway complete in equipment and service; to seek for new business wherever it offered; to handle the routine operations of the system efficiently, and to draw on the Dominion treasury for the moneys necessary for these purposes."

"If, as it has often been alleged, there has been extravagance in the addition of facilities, I for one shall accept my share of the blame which, as a whole, must rest on the people of this country. Cities demanding hotels, travellers clamoring for speedier trains, individuals and journals applauding refinement of luxury and service—of these is the Dominion of Canada made up, and they have had provided what they demanded."

Favorable Trade Balance

British and German Trade Shows Signs Of Improvement

Washington.—Business edged forward last month in both Great Britain and Germany.

Germany's favorable trade balance, gained through increased exports and declining imports, broke all records during that month.

The United Kingdom has a larger unfavorable trade balance than in August, but there were increases in both exports and imports.

Reports to the commerce department gave the following figures:

German imports, September, 448,000,000 marks; exports, 885,000,000 marks, including reparations deliveries in kind of 23,000,000 marks.

United Kingdom imports, September, 68,300,000 pounds; exports, 29,800,000 pounds, and re-exports at 3,800,000 pounds.

Tidal Wave Sweeps Island

Fifty Lives Are Lost Following Severe Earthquake

London, Eng.—The office of the colonial secretary was informed that 50 lives had been lost in the destruction of 18 native villages on the Island of Cristobal in the western Pacific when a tidal wave swept the settlements following an earthquake.

The earthquake, which was severe, occurred in the central and eastern areas of the British Solomon Islands, a report from the high commissioner of the western Pacific stated.

A NEW RULER

"And Joseph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation, now there arose up a new king in Egypt, which knew not Joseph."

We are not using this Biblical quotation as evidence that we have an intimate acquaintance with the volume of the Sacred Law. Perish the thought.
But the constantly shifting changes in everyday business life brings a new understanding of the verse and makes it an appropriate quotation.

Business is ever restless and ambitious. It is changing in character and spreading in magnitude. That betokens progress. There is no such thing as standing still in business today. We go ahead or lag behind. We either progress or die of dry rot. The term of "old established" must not be taken too literally. It should be interpreted as "long established, but up to the minute in practice." Changes, almost revolutionary in character, are daily occurring. New methods, new ideas, new and improved machinery are all contributing to the mighty urge for expansion and achievement. We are apt to accept these passing changes casually and to regard them as natural sequences in evolution. But the old order passeth and the methods and ideas of a few years ago are soon passed. A new ruler has arisen in the manufacturing world, and his name is efficiency, the son of Research. Scientific knowledge has replaced the old rule-of-thumb. Instead of guess work methods we now appreciate the tremendous advantage of scientific efficiency and accurate knowledge applied to business problems.

Modern engineering principles have been introduced into the factory and the test tube and the microscope installed in the laboratory. These are giving a wider range of manufacturing economies which aim to abolish wastes and obsolete practices. Efficiency is one of the great business building forces. Its practice is essential to success. It increases activities, lubricates the wheels of industry and gives more net profits. It is also a despot and its laws are immutable as the laws of the Medes and Persians.
They must be adhered to or economic chaos will follow.

Musical Crusaders to Resume Travels

With its network of twenty-six broadcasting stations linking Halifax, Nova Scotia, with Victoria,
B.C., the Canadian Pacific Railway hour of music on Friday evenings gives a very complete coverage of Canadian radio listeners. The programmes planned for the winter season 1931-1932 will consist chiefly of musical travelogues, interpreting the music of various European and Mediterranean countries. Programmes on similar lines were provided last winter by the celebrated Ensemble known as the Musical Crusaders, and these

ALFRED HEATHER

brought in so many letters from intending visitors to Europe who desired further information on this subject, and also from new Canadians of European origin settled in Western Canada, that this type of programme has been selected for the coming season as being useful as well as entertaining.

This has necessitated a vast amount of research which has been undertaken for the Canadian Pacific Radio department by George M.
Brewer, well-known organist and composer of Montreal. Each hour of music includes approximately 20 selections, so that for the series of 18 musical travelogues which has been planned, Mr. Brewer has had to select a total of 360 numbers, each with its special interest and each illustrating some particular phase of the country concerned.

These musical travelogues will be interpreted by the Musical Crusaders, under the direction of Alfred Heather, assisted by Rex Battle's Royal York Concert Orchestra, supported by a specially designed studio organ built by J. E. Pepin, of Montreal. There will also be guest artists of various nationalities for certain of the programmes.

This series commences on October 2, with a programme of music from Norway, followed on October 9 by a programme of Danish and Icelandic music. There will be programmes
of Spanish, French and German music, and concerts
illustrating the music of Sweden,
Finland, Italy, Belgium, Austria,
Czechoslovakia, Greece, Turkey,
Poland, Hungary, Egypt, Scotland and Ireland. Interspersed in these musical travelogues will be other general programmes—for instance, a programme of music rendered by a choir in London, Ontario, on November 20. This series of programmes will be of great educational interest as well as being highly entertaining, and will undoubtedly prove one of the major attractions of the coming season.

REX BATTLE

Contributed Huge Sum To Assist Employment

C.P.R. Spent more than $11,000,000 on new Branch Lines and station buildings and provided 351,000 days work for men otherwise unemployed. Co-operated by doing work years ahead.

Since the commencement of the existing economic situation the Canadian Pacific Railway has spent a matter of eleven to twelve million dollars in providing work for unemployed Canadians. When it was apparent in the late summer of 1930, that certain areas of southern Saskatchewan were to suffer from almost complete crop failure, the Company took upon itself to assist the people in that territory by beginning the construction of a branch line between

Mr. E. W. Beatty
Chairman and President
Canadian Pacific Ry.

Vanguard and Mayronne. This line would not, in the ordinary course of events, have been built for some time, and certainly not at a time when there was no crop available in that particular territory.

But the Company desired to give employment to the farmers and their teams in the drought area.

The total cost of the line is estimated to be approximately $1,000,000, and this work is still proceeding.

The Dominion Government subsequently undertook considerable work for the unemployment relief, and the Canadian Pacific was called upon to cooperate. This the Company did to the limit of its ability by anticipating works which would, normally, not have been started for a number of years.
These works included a number of new branch lines, the building of a new station at Regina, some grade revision in British Columbia, and also the application on various subdivisions of new rail and new rock and gravel ballast. The total cost of these works were estimated at $11,514,000 and, according to agreement with the Government, are to be completed at the end of the current year. It is true that the Dominion agreed to pay interest for a limited period on this capital cost, but after receipt of this interest, the Canadian Pacific will still have expended over $10,600,000 from its own Treasury in order to improve the situation in the country generally. This expenditure has been made at a time when the Company's revenues are suffering severely as a result of business depression. This programme of work, undertaken in order to cooperate with the Government, had given 351,000 days work to individuals otherwise unemployed up to August 31st last, and at September 14th it was estimated that approximately 100,- 000 more working days would be furnished before the works were completed.

Although the Company has succeeded in making substantial reductions in operating costs, it has hesitated to pursue its policy of economy to the limit out of regard for the serious obligation which rests upon all corporations to give as much employment as possible.
While protecting the interest of shareholders as far as is consistent with its duty to the country, the Canadian Pacific has been conservative in its application of measures which would increase the number of unemployed in Canada.
Only recently, after experiencing very severe decreases in earnings, have they pared down their forces to the bare essentials necessary for operation.

Jean, always sensitive to her surroundings, shivered a little.

"It's rather eerie, isn't it?" she said. "It's just as if someone had suddenly turned the lights out."

"Quite a nice bit of symbolism," he returned enigmatically.

"How? I don't think I understand."

He laughed a little.

"How should you? You're young. Fate doesn't come along and snuff out the lights for you when you are—what shall we say? Eighteen?"

"You're two years out," replied Jean composedly.

"As much? Then let's hope you'll have so much the longer to wait before Madame Destiny comes round with her snuffers."

He spoke with a kind of bitter humour, the backwash surely, of some storm through which he must have passed. Jean looked across at him with a vague trouble in her face.

"Then, do you think?" she spoke uncertainly—"do you believe it is inevitable that she will come—sooner or later?"

"I hope not—to you," he said gently. "But she comes to most of us."

She longed to put another question, but there was a note of finality in his voice—a kind of "thus far shalt thou come and no further"—that warned her to probe no deeper. Whatever it was of bitterness that lay in the Englishman's past, he had no intention of sharing the knowledge with his chance companion of a day. He seemed to have become absorbed once more in his own thoughts, and for a time they tramped along together in silence.

The ascent steepened perceptibly, and Jean, light and active as she was, found it hard work to keep pace with the man's steady, swinging stride.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's own remedy. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

CASTORIA
CHILDREN CRY FOR IT

W. N. U. 1913

Apparently his thoughts engrossed him to the exclusion of everything else, for he appeared to have utterly forgotten her existence. It was only when a slip of her foot on the beaten surface of the snow wrung a quick exclamation from her that he paused, wheeling round in consternation.

"I beg your pardon! I'm walking you off your legs! Why on earth didn't you stop me?"

There was something irresistibly boyish about the quick apology. Jean laughed, a little breathless from the swift climb uphill.

"You seemed so bent on getting to the top in the least possible time," she replied demurely, "that I didn't like to disappoint you."

"I'm afraid I make a poor sort of guide," he admitted. "I was thinking of something else. You must forgive me."

They resumed their climb more leisurely. The trees were thinning a bit now, and ahead, between the tall, straight trunks winged with drooping, snow-laden branches, they could catch glimpses of the white world beyond.

Presently they came out above the pine-wood on to the edge of a broad plateau and Jean uttered an exclamation of delight, gazing spell-bound at the scene thus suddenly unfolded.

Behind them, in the pine-ringed valley, a frozen reach of water gleamed like a dull sheet of metal, whilst before them, far above, stretched the great chain of mountains, pinnacle after pinnacle, capped with snow, thrusting up into the cloud-swept sky. Through rifts in the cloud—almost, it seemed, torn in the breast of heaven by those towering peaks—the sunlight slanted in long shafts, chequering the snows with shimmering patches of pale gold.

"It was worth the climb, then?"

The Englishman, his gaze on Jean's rapt face, broke the silence abruptly. She turned to him, radiant-eyed.

"It's so beautiful that it makes one's heart ache!" she exclaimed, laying her hand on her breast with the little foreign turn of gesture she derived from her French ancestry.

She said no more, but remained very still, drinking in the sheer loveliness of the scene.

The man regarded her quietly as she stood there silhouetted against the skyline, her slim, brown-clad figure striking a warm note amid the chill Alpine whites and greys. Her face was slightly tilted, and as the sunshine glinted on her hair and eyes, waking the russet lights that slumbered in them, there was something vividly arresting about her—a splendour of ardent youth which brought a somewhat wistful expression into the rather weary eyes of the man watching her.

His thought travelled back to the brief snatch of conversation evoked by the sudden gloom of the pine-woods. Surely, for once, Fate would lay aside her snuffers and let this young, eager life pass by unshadowed!

Even as the thought took shape in his mind, Jean turned to him again, her face still radiant.

"Thank you for bringing me up here," she said simply. "It has been perfect."

She stretched out her hand, and he took it and held it in his for a moment.

"I'm glad you've liked it," he answered quietly. "It will always be a part of our day together—the day we stole from the conveniences"—he smiled whimsically. "And now, if you can bring yourself back to more prosaic matters, I suggest we have lunch. Scenery, however fine, isn't exactly calculated to sustain life."

"Most material person!" She laughed up at him. "I suppose you think a ham sandwich worth all the scenery in the world?"

"I'll admit to a preference for the sandwich at the moment," he acknowledged. "Come, now, confess! Aren't you hungry, too?"

"Starving! This air makes me feel as if I'd never had anything to eat in my life before!"

"Well, then, come and inspect my sallye a manger."

The proposed refuge proved to be a roughly constructed little hut—hardly more than a shed provided with a door and thick-paned window, its only furniture a wooden bench and table. But that it had served its purpose as a kind of "travellers' rest" was proved by the fragments of appreciation, both in prose and verse, that were to be found inscribed in a species of "Visitors' Book" which lay on the table, carefully preserved from damp in a strong metal box. Jean amused herself by perusing the various contributions to its pages while the Englishman unpacked the contents of his knapsack.

The lunch that followed was a merry little meal, the two conversing with a happy intimacy and freedom from reserve based on the reassuring knowledge that they would, in all probability, never meet again. Afterwards, they bent their energies to concerting a suitable inscription for insertion in the "Visitors' Book," squabbling like a couple of children over the particular form it should take.

So absorbed were they in the discussion that they failed to notice the perceptible cooling of the temperature. The sun no longer warmed the roofing of the hut, and there was a desolate note in the sudden gusts of wind which shook the door at frequent intervals as though trying to attract the attention of those within. Presently a louder rattle than usual, coincident with a chance pause in the conversation, roused them effectually.

The Englishman's keen glance flashed to the little window, through which was visible a dancing, whirling blur of white.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed in good round English. "It's snowing like the very dickens!"

In two strides he had reached the door, and, throwing it open, peered out. A draught of icy air rushed into the hut, accompanied by a flurry of fine snow driven on the wind.

When he turned back, his face had assumed a sudden look of gravity.

"We must go at once," he said, speaking in French again and apparently unconscious of his momentary lapse into his native tongue. "If we don't, we shan't be able to get back at all. The snow drifts quickly in the valley. Half an hour more of this and we shouldn't be able to get through."

Jean thrust the Visitors' Book back into its box, and began hastily repacking her companion's knapsack, but he stopped her almost roughly.

"Never mind that. Fasten that fur thing closer round your throat and come on. There's no taking chances in a blizzard like this. Don't you understand?"—almost roughly. "If we waste time we may have to spend the night here."

Impelled by the sudden urgency of his tones, Jean followed him swiftly out of the hut, and the wind, as though baulked by her haste, snatched the door from her grasp and drove it to with a menacing thud behind them.

Species Is Unknown

Petrified Fish Found In Gravel Pit
Near Moose Jaw

Mute testimony of the belief that the prairies were once covered by many fathoms of water is borne in the finding of a petrified shell fish of an unknown species, in a gravel pit, three miles southeast of Moose Jaw.

Carl Erickson, working at the rock pile was smashing a huge rock of 500 or 600 pounds when he came upon the "fish." It was right in the centre of the huge rock which had been dug up from a depth of about eight feet underground.

This relic of a distant age resembles the snail and is about the size of a man's fist.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

A Birthday Party

Birthday Cards To Be Sent From Royal Winter Fair

Every boy and girl in Canada whose tenth birthday falls between November 18 and 26, inclusive, will receive a personal birthday card from the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, if it is requested. This is because the winter fair on those dates also celebrates its tenth "birthday."

This year the fair is designated a "commemorative show" to recall the inspiring influence it was to Canadian agriculture when founded ten years ago. And it is to help in spreading a cheery outlook respecting agriculture that the birthday party is being held.

Many children die from the assaults of worms, and the first care of mothers should be to see that their infants are free from these pests. A vermifuge that can be depended on is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only expel worms from the system, but act as a health-giving medicine and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset infants, enfeebling them and endangering their lives.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

LIFE'S DELIGHT

Sometimes love is a rose aglow
In a garden gay with sun,
Where the winds all sweet with perfume go
And song is never done.

As day by day the roses nod
And brighten the garden-place,
So love in a life is the smile of God,
And life grows fair by love's grace.

Sometimes love is a lily-bud
As lovely as the moon,
A lily-bud in the star-light's flood
On the still and black lagoon.

As lilies may lift their petals pale
Out of the mud and slime,
So love in a life can never fail
To make that life sublime.

Love may be rose or lily white,
A thing of sun or shade;
But always love has been life's delight,
Since ever the world was made.

Samuel Smiles never had a clearer self-made man than Thomas Lipton. The boy to whom a guinea used to be a fortune became the master of millions and the employer of hosts of men. He was generous with his money, never more so than in the World War, when he turned the Erin into a hospital ship; and Serbia knew him as "Uncle Tom." His motto was "Labor Omnia Vincit." A friend of the early Glasgow days said of him: "He did not need to be knighted to be a nobleman."

about the interest?""Why do you suppose that big cannibal is looking us over so intently?" asked a ship wrecked sailor of his buddy."Maybe he's the food inspector for this island," answered the other.EATING TO LIVEAll through the ages from the primordial days when the hirsute cave man devoured his hors d'oeuvres on the hoof down to the modern manycoursed Lucullan feast, the world appears to have been pretty well divided between those who are "living to eat" and those who are "eating to live." Old Man Stomach has ever been the determining factor in the scheme of human existence. Prince and pauper, saint and sinner, lord and laborer, have all had to cater at times to its imperious decree. "Feed us not into temptation", has become a modern interpretation of the old-age commandment.It seems to be one of life's queer anomalies that so many people should have to be under dietetic restraint and medical supervision from over indulgence in food, while there are teeming millions who find it a daily job to keep one jump ahead of starvation.
A more even division of the world's "loaves and fishes" would brighten things up considerably.FOR SALE60 Chickens; 1 Dresser; 6 chairs and
